I was very surprised and ecstatic when I was chosen to participate in ACTT's National Quiz by my coach. My team and I prepared for each round of the competition by selecting information from the Study Guide and creating numerous questions based on the information chosen. We then engaged in a series of mock competitions against one another.

My participation in this Quiz made me more confident when speaking in front of crowds and I learnt about quality assurance in the education sector of Trinidad and Tobago. This knowledge will make me be better able to make wise decisions in the future when it comes to selecting a university to further my studies.

The most important lesson I learnt from my participation is that teamwork can make you accomplish so much more than if you attempt a goal alone. I would definitely encourage students to participate in the 4th instalment of the Quiz. I would inform them of the many benefits and let them know how much fun it is, although it can be a nerve-racking experience at times.
